RDAA ASIA/PACIFIC VIDEO DRESSAGE COMPETITION 2009

It's difficult enough for disabled horse riders to find a horse and rider combination that works. Add to that the cost of travel, and it's impossible for many disabled riders to compete. So for the first time, Riding for the Disabled's 2009 Asia Pacific Dressage Competition is being held by video.

RDA trainer, Avril Troon, was in Alice Springs recently preparing a local rider who's entered the competition.

"It's a wonderful idea because there are so many riders out there who want to compete but they can't get out there or they don't have the transport so this is going to open it up to a lot more riders now."

Competitor Karyn Clark says she wouldn't be taking part in the competition if it weren't for the possibility to do it by video.

"It's quite a new thing where you can compete by making a DVD and you just send it off to the assessors and that's how they judge everybody."
Penelope Bergen (ABC Rural Radio NT: 14.07.09)

Entries for the 2009 RDA Australia Asia/Pacific video competition are now closed. Competition results to be announced on 1 September, 2009.

RDAA NATIONAL VIDEO DRESSAGE COMPETITION 2009

The National Dressage Competition is an important part of the RDAA calendar.

This year, RDA Australia will hold a National Video Competition for its riders. Information on this competition will be available on the website soon.

VISIT TO LOCAL RDA CENTRES

RDAA fundraiser, Rosemary Mc Donald, was delighted to be invited to visit a number of local RDA Centres in Queensland in June.

Rosemary travelled down to the Arundel RDA Centre at Coombabah on the Gold Coast. There she met several board and staff members who shared their plans for the future of the Centre and ideas for working with the national office

Next stop was the McIntyre Centre in Brisbane, where she was given a guided tour by Centre Manager, Denis Keates. The McIntyre Centre is the oldest RDA Centre in Australia and will celebrate its 50th Anniversary in 2015.

Rosemary then travelled up the Sunshine Coast to the Cartmill Centre at Burpengary. Both the McIntyre and Cartmill Centre had been badly affected by recent floods. The Cartmill Centre lost 2 horses and 20 years of work. Jane Sayer, Centre

Manager told Rosemary that the community response had been amazing and a lot of hard work was taking place to get the Centre back on track.

Rosemary's final visit was to the Gympie RDA Centre. Centre Manager Coralie Kedzlie showed her around this charming rural Centre describing her vision for the Centre and their future plans.

RDA GREY NOMADS

RDA Alice Springs was lucky enough to have 2 special volunteers from RDASA pass through recently - Joan Lemmon, a Level 2 Coach/Assessor and her husband Bob - who quickly came to be known as:

'Bob the Builder'!

Joan & Bob are 'grey nomads'. They are spending time on the road going around volunteering at RDA Centres all over Australia, in any way they can.

Joan was soon busy coaching and training, as well as helping to set up policies & procedures, and stocktaking. Besides assessing two Alice Springs candidates for their RDA Level 1 Coaching accreditation, she also made time in her busy schedule to assess visiting Coach Averil Troon for her RDA Level 2 Coaching accreditation. In that time Bob also redesigned and assisted guys from CEA (Work for the Dole) to build two new stables as well as general repair and maintenance around the centre.

They have visited a few centres in Victoria and Queensland and look forward to visiting others in this beautiful country.

You can contact Joan and Bob on rojoa@bigpond.com to cheque if they are going to be in your area if your Centre needs any help.

FANTOM RIDER RAISES MONEY FOR RIDING FOR THE DISABLED

Willie Robert Fantom aka the Fantom Rider has raised over $7,000 for RDA. Unfortunately one of Willi's horses developed a chronic skin problem and had to be retired from the trip. The trip is on hold until a suitable new horse(s) has been sourced. Willi is currently trying out a new horse Banjo, a pure stock horse gelding, on loan from a generous RDA supporter.

RDA UK ORGANISES WORLD'S BIGGEST RIDING LESSON

The Riding for the Disabled Association UK (RDA) hopes to unite riders around the globe this autumn for the world's biggest riding lesson.

On 30 September 2009, disabled and able-bodied riders in the UK and abroad will complete a simple routine devised by the RDA as part of its 40th Anniversary Celebrations.

Event chairman Doug Smith said:

"A global lesson with the same routine on the same day has never been done before, so we will set a world record."

The RDA hopes at least 5,000 riders will take part and riding schools in the UK, US, Portugal, Australia, Singapore and Hong Kong have already signed up.

"Anyone who rides anywhere in the world can join in," added Mr Smith. "We want riders to unite — once we're on a horse we're all the same. Anyone who rides could need the RDA at some point."

The first lesson of the day will be launched by the Princess Royal at Chigwell Riding Trust for Special Needs, Essex - the first purpose-built riding centre for disabled people in the world.

If any RDA Centres would like to participate in this great event you can register online at:

DONKEY WISDOM

Donkeys are good at being donkeys. You may tell a horse but you need to ask a donkey. A donkey isn't good at solving problems that are acceptable to humans. We (humans) don't see things as they are; we see them as we are.

A donkey's nature isn't to be stubborn or difficult, but purely to learn and survive. Donkeys, like most of us, are motivated most successfully by things that are naturally enjoyable.

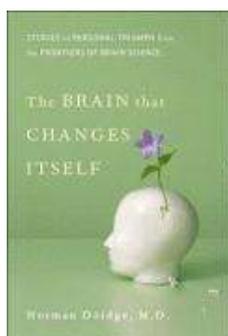

Positive reinforcement is anything a donkey (person or animal) will actively work for, anything that encourages him or her to continue to work for reward. This is the kindest, safest and most effective way to teach and change behaviour in man and beast.

Positive Reinforcement – patience and little rewards, tender acts of kindness and encouragement – reap positive long term benefits for all concerned. Everyone benefits from this approach, not just horses and donkeys.

RECOMMENDED READING

'The Brain That Changes Itself' by Norman Doidge

A new scientific discovery called 'Neuroplasticity' is overthrowing centuries old notion that the human brain is fixed and unchanging. Recently it has been discovered that the human brain is able to change its own structure and function, and transform people's lives, even into old age. This has major implications on how illness, injury and disability can be addressed, particularly in early intervention programs for young children with a disability. This is a must read book for RDA coaches and parents...

RDA AUSTRALIAN STORY

RDA Australia would love to record people's stories to highlight some of the achievements and the lives that have been touched and improved in the past 30 years through their connection to RDA.

In order to do this, we are asking for stories, photos and case studies from you, which we can publicise and include in a book or booklet, upload on to the website or download as a podcast.

Whatever your role or connection with RDA, it is likely that you can recall at least one incident or activity, or you have a comment that sums up your feelings for the organisation.

Your stories will capture the essence and strength of RDA and are a valuable resource that may be used in many ways for the benefit of the whole organisation:

- These stories could be included in an RDA 30th Anniversary Celebratory Booklet.
- To raise the profile of RDA.
- To motivate supporters and donors.
- To stimulate medical interest.
- To encourage new volunteers to come forward and get involved.
- To capture the history of the organisation.

Young participants may like to recount particular triumphs and stories about their ponies and the magic of HORSE POWER, while adults could tell about overcoming logistical nightmares connected with getting to RDA events.

Volunteers could relate how they became INVOLVED and what they get out of it, and those small incidents that made them smile and that 'say it all about RDA'.

Parents and carers may tell how RDA has IMPROVED LIVES.

Please do not dismiss your story as not being of any interest to anyone. It may be ten words or two pages (preferably not more than that), and, if necessary, RDA will edit it to suit a particular use.

If you have a RDA story you would like to share with us, please email it to fundraising@rda.org.au.
